

West Virginia Archives and History

Annual Report Fiscal 2018-2019

Archives and History maintains the Archives and History Library and the West Virginia State Archives; administers the highway marker program to designate historical sites; and provides support services and technical assistance to state, county, and historical organizations and institutions. Under the Code, the director of Archives and History serves as secretary to the citizen advisory Archives and History Commission and as staff to the Records Management and Preservation Board.

During the 2018-2019 fiscal year, Archives and History concentrated on collecting and processing original county records, completed the sesquicentennial highway historical marker project, and initiated innovative programs and learning opportunities for school students from across the state. Staff completed processing of the Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corporation Collection, which consists of nearly two hundred cubic feet of records and hundreds of original maps. Collections of chancery and law case files, as well as county clerk records, were transferred to the State Archives from seven counties, continuing our efforts to preserve these important records while alleviating some of the storage issues at county courthouses and annex buildings. The last of the sesquicentennial markers were ordered and work on a new edition of the marker book is underway. Since November, hundreds of school students have visited Archives and History, where they have been exposed to our activities, and staff are developing additional Web-based activities and resources for teachers to use in classroom settings.

Library

The Archives and History Library handled nearly 2,000 reference calls and answered nearly 250 research letters, a number of them requiring more than minimal research.

In October, Thursday evening library hours were discontinued. The library lectures, which had been held in the evening, were moved to Saturday afternoon. At the same time, a decision was made to reduce the number of lectures scheduled during the year. The Block Series, a summertime series of programs on African American life put together by the West Virginia Center for African American Art and Culture, remains an important part of the lecture programming.

In addition to Archives and History programs, the library served as the location for programs by several other groups. In September, Archives and History hosted the West Virginia Labor History Association program by Ginny Ayers on Mother Jones and the Paint Creek/Cabin Creek strike. That same month, the Mining Your History Foundation held its annual meeting in the library. The library served as the venue for a DNA workshop in November, a Celtic Calling Genealogy workshop in March, and a Genetic Genealogy

DNA workshop in May. In February, the Office of Minority Affairs used the library for two lecture programs. In addition, the local chapter of Sons of the American Revolution held monthly meetings in the library.

The twentieth annual Hoot Owl was held in the Archives and History Library on April 5-6, 2019. The all-night event, co-sponsored by Archives and History and the Mining Your History Foundation, was attended by 30 people.

Staff and MYHF volunteers assisted researchers in locating materials. Proceeds from the annual event are dedicated to purchase and support the collections of the Archives library.

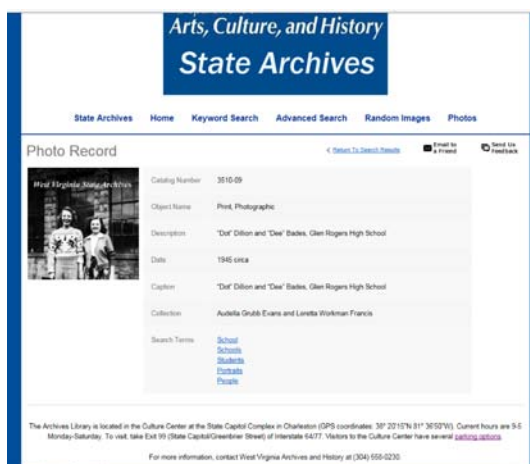

“I will happily recommend contacting the West Virginia Archives and History Library to anyone trying to research a relative from West Virginia.” - September 2018

“Throughout the process of researching historical records retained by the WV Archives and History, I was highly impressed with the customer service provided by your staff, the organization of your department during my visit, and the care taken to preserve the records. The staff was very knowledgeable, accommodating and courteous.” - October 2018

“I just wanted to take a quick moment to say thank you for your recent research efforts for my dad and me. You went above & beyond with our request & I am sincerely grateful for your kind & thoughtful work.” - June 2019

Web Site & Social Media

During the fiscal year, staff added 1,254 image files, 814 html/PDF text files, and 422 database records to the Archives and History Web site. In addition, 341 photograph records and images were added to Archives and History’s PastPerfect Online catalog, which went “live” on the Web site during the fiscal year.

Archives and History launched an online “Doc of the Day” feature in January. It started as a social media idea and led to the creation of an Instagram account. As work progressed, a “Doc of the Day” Web page was added, making this feature available via Instagram, Facebook, Twitter, and the Web site.

Another addition to the Web site, designed for use by teachers and students, are several new tables that were compiled primarily from census data. “West Virginia Women’s Occupations” documents women employment between 1880 and 1960. Two tables provide a breakdown by county and country of origin for the state’s foreign-born population between 1870 and 1940. Another provides a state-level view of country of origin for this population between 1870 and 2010. In addition to a Web page view, each table is available as an Excel file, which teachers and students can download.

Among other items added were Quick Quizzes (3 quizzes, 30 questions) and new records in the Golden Horseshoe Winners, State Government Documents, and Periodicals databases. The Photo Gallery, which contains images that had previously been on display in Archives and History’s photo gallery off the Great Hall, was updated with the addition of images for the “Jennings Randolph, New Dealer” and “Okey DeRaimo’s View of Coal Life and Operations” exhibits.

In addition, 42 biographies of individuals included on the West Virginia Veterans Memorial were added to the Web site. Archives and History’s Veterans Memorial volunteer Pat McClure continued to work with an Advanced Placement U.S. History class from George Washington High School and GW’s ROTC class, assisting them in writing biographies.

More than 12,000 responses to the Daily Trivia were received, and nearly 3.5 million Quick Quiz pages were accessed. Archives and History pages remained the most accessed pages on the Department of Arts, Culture and History Web site. The Vital Research Records pages are especially popular with family history researchers, and after the Civil War medals received substantial media attention in April, pages on the medals had a dramatic increase in activity.

Collections

Archives and History received a number of collections during fiscal 2018-2019. Aside from a continued focus on county records, some of the notable collections received were correspondence and other materials of Memphis Tennessee Garrison; the Douglas and Rena Bumgardner Collection of materials on the Charleston family and Kanawha Valley groups and events, 1881-2009; Shannondale Woman’s Club materials, 1951-2007; nearly 2,000 negatives on coal mining operations in the 1940s and 1950s from Okey DeRaimo; and the Ray Lewis Division of Highways Collection of thousands of prints, slides, and negatives of highway projects and railroad crossings between 1970 and 2010. (See the accession list at the end of the report for a complete list of additions to the West Virginia State Archives collections in 2018-2019.)

Staff completed processing of the Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corporation Collection, saved in February 2018. The collection, which consists of more than 180 boxes of manuscripts, bound volumes, drawings and maps, photographs, and audio-visual materials, focuses primarily on the 1920 to 2012 period but includes materials dating back to the 1840s. In addition to Wheeling-Pitt and its predecessor companies Wheeling Steel and Pittsburgh Steel, the collection contains information on Wheeling Corrugating, Mingo Oxygen, Harmar Coal, and other subsidiary and affiliated companies.

Collections of chancery and law case files were transferred from Fayette, Mingo, and Roane counties, and processing of the Pleasants and Mercer files was completed. In addition, several staff members spent extensive time cleaning and listing case files from McDowell County, which were covered in a layer of coal dust. The oldest county clerk records were picked up from Gilmer, Logan, and Morgan counties, and additional records were transferred from the county clerk in Lewis County, including teacher pay records from the 1830s.

When Archives and History acquired the Wheeling-Pitt materials, they were stored offsite in a location where moisture from the conditions in which they had recently been kept could be removed. A temporary offsite storage facility was rented and the processing handled there. In August, with the rental period nearing expiration, those records, as well as county records that were acquired in the meantime, were brought onsite. The records of several counties now are in a temporary onsite location, accessible only by a few staff members, awaiting a permanent location with shelving.

Audiovisual Archives

The audio-visual archives added WSAZ-TV news stories for 2013 to the collections. The moving images archivist assisted several film producers, including Russ Barbour of West Virginia Public Broadcasting, who was working on a documentary on West Virginia traditional music.

During the fiscal year, 64 newspapers (39 dailies and 25 weeklies), covering the period from 1995 to 2018, were filmed for a total of 190 rolls of microfilm, more film than has been shot on a yearly basis in more than a decade. With the exception of The Piedmont Herald for 1887-1888, 1890-1905, and 1980-1981; The Lincoln Times, 1987-1996; and Better Times Weekly, 1978-1980, a small newspaper published in Monongalia County, these newspapers dated to the twenty-first century.

Highway Markers

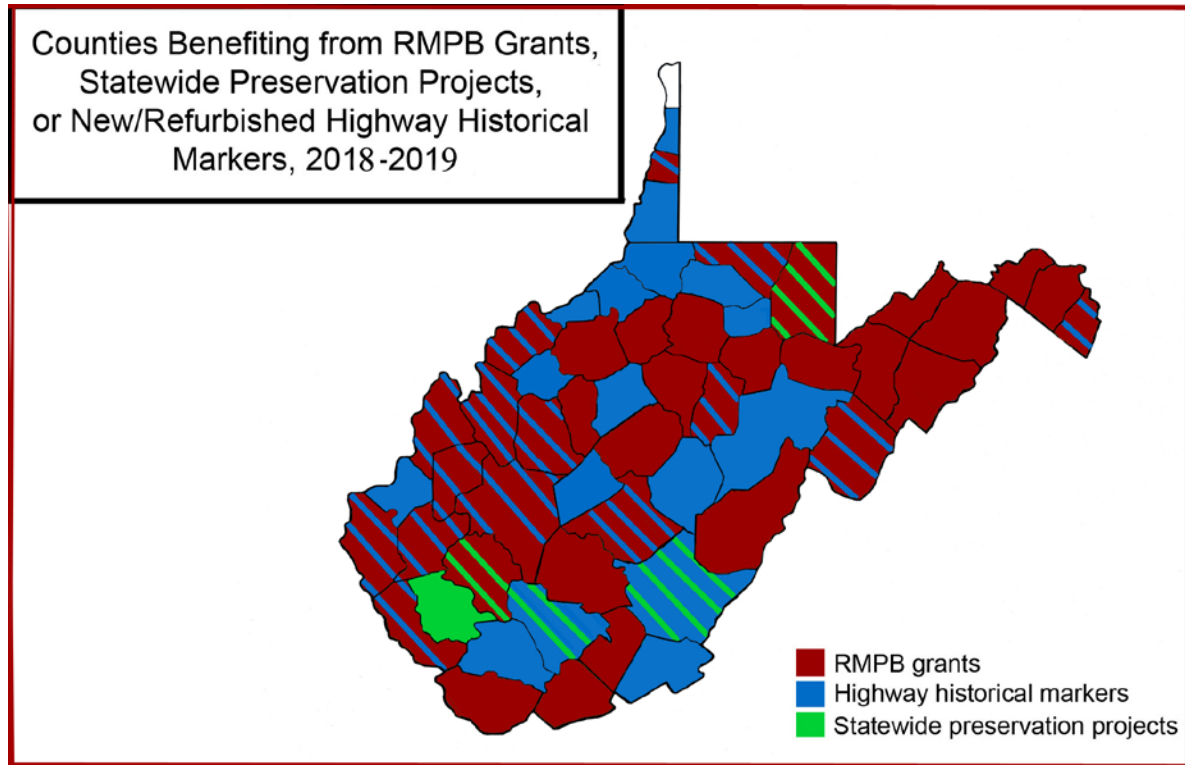

During the year, 7 markers were refurbished, 4 were replaced, and 46 new markers were ordered. The latter figure is largely comprised of markers created as part of the sesquicentennial marker project. By the end of June 2019, the last of the sesquicentennial markers had been ordered. More than one half the markers have been installed and locations for the remainder should be completed soon.

Records Management

The statewide county records preservation project staff continued to travel back and forth to county courthouses to collect and return deed books. Over the course of the year, staff scanned 125 record books in Greenbrier, Preston, and Raleigh counties and edited nearly 700 books using Digital Voodoo to improve images for Boone, Logan, and Raleigh.

As part of continuing efforts to transfer historically significant county records to the State Archives, staff picked up county and circuit clerk records from 7 counties—Fayette, Gilmer, Lewis, Logan, Mingo, Morgan, and Roane counties. Among interesting items transferred (from Morgan County) were two Fairfax land grants dating to the mid-1700s.

In the sixteenth round of Records Management and Preservation Board (RMPB) grants, 36 counties were awarded grants totaling $388,236 for projects scheduled to begin on July 1, 2019. Monroe County received the largest award, $25,000, to scan and index certain books and to preserve water-damaged case files in the circuit clerk’s office, while Pleasants County was awarded $995 to purchase a public access computer and printer for the circuit clerk’s office.

Grants underway during the 2018-2019 year averaged just over $11,400. The largest three grants exceeded $20,000 and were awarded to Fayette, Mercer, and Monongalia for the purchase of shelving. In the case of Fayette, the grant also was awarded for personnel costs to index deed books digitized by the RMPB Statewide Preservation Project. Six counties received grants under $5,000 (Barbour, Hampshire, Jackson, McDowell, Nicholas, and Summers). Two were for the purchase of color scanners and a third included that as part of the project. Another was for the purchase of roller shelving, while three involved digitization, two of them also including rebinding/restoration and encapsulation.

During the legislative session, a bill of interest to county records management, S.241, was approved and became law. Under the act, a county commission may authorize the clerk to scan, record, and make available online certain writings and papers in electronic form rather than in book form. A separate index book is no longer required, and the clerk may replace existing books by scanning them in an approved electronic format.

Inter-Agency Support

Staff provided assistance to several state agencies regarding their records and retention schedules and also responded to requests for information on various topics.

Staff continued to assist the Department of Education with preparation of the Golden Horseshoe test, serve as judges at the Social Studies Fair, and read names of Golden Horseshoe recipients at the ceremony in May.

Arts, Culture and History Internal Support

Archives and History continued to play a substantial role in the department's West Virginia History Bowl, which tests eighth-grade students on their knowledge of history, art, preservation, and cultural topics.

Regional competitions were held in February and March, with a play-in competition in March. There were 118 teams representing 74 schools in 34 counties. The winning and runner-up teams from each regional were eligible to participate in the state competition, which brought 24 teams to the Culture Center on April 30. In the championship round of the double-elimination tournament, one of two teams from South Middle School (Monongalia) defeated one of the two Peterstown Middle School (Monroe) teams. A team from Sherrard Middle (Marshall) placed third, while a team from Shady Spring (Raleigh) placed fourth. The Archives and History Library served as one of the competition venues for the statewide tournament.

Archives and History staff continued to provide support to other sections within the Department of Arts, Culture and History. Library staff assisted staff in other sections with various research topics. The photo archivist provided 83 digital images for Goldenseal magazine, published through the Communications unit, 32 for Historic Preservation, and 119 prints and digital images for exhibits and the museum. Through arrangements made by the department, Archives and History staff also dedicated much time in searching for and printing 220 gratis images for individuals in state offices or other.

During the fiscal year, two new Archives and History exhibits went on display in the photo gallery located in the north wing off the Great Hall, between the library and the entrance to the hallway leading to the Archives and History offices. At the start of the fiscal year, a new Jennings Randolph exhibit went on display. It was replaced in October by Okey DeRaimo photos of coal life and operations, which remained on display until March.

As was the case the previous year, staff were requested to devote a portion of their Memorial Day weekend to the department’s annual Vandalia Gathering. Staff provided assistance to other sections, as well as to the department.

Outreach

Archives and History staff were involved in various outreach activities during the year with a particular focus on educational outreach to students. Staff updated information on Archives and History Web resources for eighth-grade education standards and worked with the Department of Education Office of Early and Elementary Learning to get a link to the Web site on their education resources page.

ARCHIVES AND HISTORY

Late in the Fall, Archives and History began providing educational sessions and tours to visiting school groups from elementary through high school grade levels. Staff developed stations to teach students how to use microfilm, to show them video images and photographs, and to inform them about the different types of materials preserved in the State Archives. In an eight-month period, more than 2,500 students learned about Archives and History.

In June 2019, Archives and History hosted the Woodson Lyceum Teachers Institute for an in-depth tour and educational presentations on using primary source materials in classrooms. Using the topic of school integration in West Virginia, staff assigned each teacher a county and provided three stations of manuscripts, state documents, and newspapers. At each station, teachers read the material and answered questions based on the material. The program was well received, and staff have begun developing primary source activities that will result in the creation of document-based questions.

The twenty-third annual History Day at the Legislature was held on February 21, 2019. Because ongoing structural work in the capitol dome area forced the closure of the rotunda, only the House and Senate foyers were available for displays and fewer groups could be accommodated. Thirty-two groups were registered, and 26 attended, a few of them having cancelled when it looked as though the teachers would go on strike again. There were 39 History Heroes, 28 of whom accepted their awards in person.

Much media attention was given to the West Virginia Civil War Medal program during the last quarter of the fiscal year. A mid-April story by a Time reporter that appeared on the magazine's Web site was quickly followed by stories on Fox News and WOWK-TV. News interest in the medals continued and brought a brief surge in viewers of the Civil War Medal Web pages.

Archives and History again served as the venue for the FestivALL Oral History Project of Eric Douglas. The focus of the sessions from July through September was a continuation of Charleston baseball. FestivALL interviews were again conducted in June 2019, with a focus on life along the Elk and Kanawha rivers.
